press release 9th of July 2013

Laser Europa Cup was finished without further races

After six races on three sailing days the originally planned race of Tuesday was cancelled because of a lack of sufficient wind. After several hours of start delay the prize awarding ceremony took place at 2 p.m. The head race director Uli Finckh summarized well, "we prefer to sail with wind instead of just to drift on the water."

The prize awarding ceremony of the overall 100 Laser sailors started with a small dispraise from the race director Sven Johannsen, who was criticizing the high amount of disqualifications during the start of the race. 21 Laser Radial started too early and therefor became disqualified.

The Laser Radial nominates in seven categories their best sailors. Overall winner became Sarah Gunni Toftedal from Denmark, who also won the female rating, by 11 points. The male Laser Radial won Marcin Rudawski from Poland. Second became Matthes Waack from Rostock. The 16 year old is very content with his results, because he has hoped for a placement among the first ten. The weak wind conditions were ideal for him. "Nevertheless the girls did not make it easy for him." It was already the third Laser Europa Cup for Waack. His next highlight is the IDM in Ribnitz-Damgarten where he aims a placement on the podium.

Because of the 125 years anniversary of the German Sailor Association the jury chairman Gode Sevecke, in behalf of the president Rolf Bähr, handed over a special prize for the winner of the category Laser Radial.

In the category Laser Standard won a sailor from a neighboring baltic country. In this case Jonasz Stelmaszyk comes from Poland. Second in the olympic boat category was the Dane Thorbjørn Schierup, third the Norwegian Mathias Mollatt. The best German became Philipp Buhl. He ended up on place seven.

At the hanseboot Rund Bornholm Regatta the vessels "SEB II", the "Ember Sea", the "Opal" and the "Tutima" are in front according to the tracking system. All ships are relatively close to each other and the first vessels are expected to hit the finish during night hours.
